tl;dr - It's the camera. And using it thoughtfully can change your teaching in substantial ways. I spent most of the fall in eighth grade classrooms, watching lots of teachers enact the same set of Desmos lessons in different ways and in different contexts and with different results.. Some classes were high energy, some were low energy.

Hi there! My name is Sarah Carter. I used to be Sarah Hagan, but I met an amazing guy (who also happens to be a math teacher who blogs) through this blog and married him in March 2016. You can read more about our math love story here. And, yes, it is just a crazy coincidence that I called this blog Math = Love and met the love of my life as a result.
